CALEB HAS HIS FENCES IN ORDER.

Representative Caleb Powers has returned to Washington after a prolonged visit in his Congressional district. He announced that he will seek renomination for Congress and stated that, judging from all he could learn while in the district, he will be renominated without serious opposition.

THOUSANDS RETURN TO THE U. S.

During the last three years 360,000 American farmers moved to Canada carrying with them an average of $1,000. Canada may be a good place to farm, growing oats, spring wheat and flax, but the garden spot of diversified farming is in the Blue Grass. One encouraging feature of the Canadian farming fever is that fully one-third of the American farmers return home after one year's experience with the cold, biting winters of the Canadian plains.

MAN WHO DOES THINGS.

The Kentucky Educational Association is on in Louisville with a large attendance of teachers, trustees and friends of education generally. Probably the State in general is better represented than ever before. The increased interest in the conventions is due mainly to the efforts of one man—John B. McFerran, of Louisville. There is no citizen of Kentucky who has done more of late years than has Mr. McFerran to advance the material interests of the State. His influence has been especially helpful along educational lines.—State Journal.

AN INDEFENSIBLE RIGHT.

Has a man the right to work for whom he pleases, as he pleases, on his own hook and at his own terms, by his own free will and without exterior compulsion? Does freedom of labor, freedom of the individual to labor, still exist, or has it been superseded and slain by associations of laborers? Some of those associations ask for more than their rights. They seek to maintain a monopoly. They make or try to make themselves a privileged class, either by exemption from the laws or by violence overruling the laws.

Has a "scab," that is a workman who chooses not to belong to a labor union, the right to work, the right even to live? This is the matter at issue in Colorado.

Whatever the demagogues prate, an elementary and indispensable and indefensible right is at stake in Colorado. In defending that right to labor, to refusing to yield to timorous counsels from Washington, Mr. Rockefeller has shown civic courage and a just sense of the equal claim of all to liberty and protection.

WAITING.

Patience, but by no means hopelessly, the country is awaiting the result of mediation in Mexico. To say that war will be averted and order restored in Mexico as a result of the mediation proposals would be an extravagant prophecy. The only indulgence in optimism permitted at this time is to hope for the best. That President Wilson will accept less than the elimination of Huerta from Mexican politics, or that Huerta would concede so much must be regarded as equally doubtful.

But the worst phase of the whole situation lies in the fact that the elimination of Huerta, so earnestly desired and persistently sought by the President offers no solution of the problem in Mexico. It merely represents the gratification of a presidential wish. Again we say it. Huerta is a symptom, not the disease itself. And at the worst he has shown himself the strongest man now attempting to do anything for the bleeding country. Mexico needs peace. Huerta will soon say whether his own effacement shall open the way to the trial of other sources of pacification. But he has not yet effaced himself, and we are waiting.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

The Army of Gold Medal Flour Users

number many thousands because it gives satisfaction. Buy a sack or barrel from your grocer.

Eventually
GOLD MEDAL FLOUR

Taddy is not only coming back—he's hastening back. A real war and a red-hot political mixup are the irresistible magnets which are drawing the chief Bull Moose hence.

According to the Philadelphia Record "the Tariff was enacted for the purpose of reducing the customs revenue," which it seems to be doing. But the old Democratic idea of a Tariff that should yield enough revenue to defray the expenses of the government seems to be a thing of the past.—Camden (N. J.) Post-Telegram.

BURLESON PROPOSES

RUTHLESS CONFISCATION.

If a private citizen entered into such a program for confiscating private property he would be put into the penitentiary. Here is a department of the Government proposing seriously to rob thousands of citizens, men, women and children, ruthlessly to monopolize their property, to do the very things which the Congress is about to declare criminal and which common law has always considered criminal. It is not unmoral; it is immoral. It is dishonest, discreditable to the Government, a gratuitous affront to honest citizens everywhere.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

I. W. W.—"I WON'T WORK."

A woman speaker of the I. W. W. type at a street meeting in New York, said to her audience: "I wish you were all men of spirit. If you were, John D. Rockefeller would not be alive tomorrow. I'd shoot him down like a dog." Poor deluded woman! She is guilty of the abuse of free speech that a republic cannot long endure. Free speech, that despises good will and wants to kill somebody, is in itself a crime. The only road to progress is temperate speech. Truth will have nothing to do with vociferous anger. So it is in court, in church, in the hustings, on the street. Truth is as gentle and kindly as a sister. It does not shake its fist or gnash its teeth. And the reason we have so much of this sort of speech is because truth is so scarce. There are some men who think that truth is a piece of rock that they can pick up and hurl at whomsoever they dislike. But truth is not so. It is as mild as a whisper and nobody is sure of it but omniscience.

We often talk about the duty of scholarship and culture. There is as much if not more the duty of ignorance and that is to speak soberly and seldom. Where ignorance speaks intemperately, which is so much the custom, truth retires to the gloom to weep. There is no patriotism in wild, venomous talk.—Ashland Independent.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE.

A Second Bluebeard.

(Synopsis of preceding chapters: The wedding of Doubleday Tinkitt, philanthropist and inventor of child labor machines, and lovely Bluebell Bledgers was the social event of the year in Centrevilleburgtown. After leaving the church Tinkitt takes his bride to the Tinkitt family mansion on Lowbrow, a hill just outside the town. Here he unlocks door after door, showing her wonderful contrivances for her comfort and convenience, such as stationary washbasins and silk dust cloths. There is just one room on the sixth floor back that remains unlocked, and Tinkitt impresses on his bride that, although the rest of the house belongs to her to do as she pleases, this one room must remain locked in the mysterious secrecy, even as the famous room in Bluebeard's palace. Then, kissing some of the powder off his wife's nose, Tinkitt departs for a week, for his motto is never to mix business and marriage. For the first five days Bluebell is able to restrain her curiosity, but on the sixth, despite the facts that she knows her husband is a devil when aroused, she unlocks the mysterious door with a skeleton key which she finds in the family skeleton closet.)

CHAPTER 887.

"Oh!" exclaimed Bluebell in rapture. "Oh! Oh! Oh!" For, hanging from the high ceiling were the variously hued wigs, still dripping their purple, green, pink and magenta dye, of Tinkitt's former wife, a famous society leader. Almost swooning with delight, Bluebell rang for a step-ladder. (The End.) —Louisville Times.

NEVER SUSPECTED KIDNEY TROUBLE

Gained Fifty Pounds in Weight.

Some time ago I was suffering from what I supposed was rheumatism. I became so bad that I could hardly get on my feet from a sitting position. I ran down in weight from 165 to 145 pounds. I tried different kinds of medicine but received little or no help. I saw Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root highly recommended for kidney trouble but I never had any idea that my kidneys were affected. I thought I would try a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and see what the effect would be. I commenced taking it according to directions and in a few days I saw that it was helping me. I used the fifty-cent bottle and then bought three more dollar bottles and they completely cured me. I have gone back to my original weight—195 pounds—and I am a thorough advocate of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root as I believe it to be a remarkable preparation for what it is recommended to do. WILLIAM H. PARTCH, New Haven, Vt.

Personally appeared before me this 4th day of September, 1919, Wm. H. Partch, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. D. A. ROLEAU, Justice of the Peace.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You. Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Maysville Daily Public Ledger. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottle for sale at all drug stores.

A woman fears burglars; a man old age.

Gen. Carranza has formally declined the suggestion of the mediators for an armistice with Huerta.

The reason men believe in marrying for love is because they know the women have no money.

The old-fashioned youth used to give the girl a few sample lessons before he asked her if she could learn to love him. But nowadays they meet once or twice, get married, and she doesn't know how to spell his name correctly until after the honeymoon.

J. E. Boardman, of near Little Rock, bought last week from Bourbon farmers, 2,300 fleeces of wool at 25 cents per pound.

The Prix Indian Chief was run at Le Tremblay, France, and was won by Boyne, owned by Herman B. Duryen, of New York.

Mrs. Thos. Hayden, of Owensboro, reports that from February 20 to April 8, from a pen of seven White Wyandotte pullets, she has received 293 eggs, and they are still laying every day.

The United States has the largest number of food animals of any country in the world. India has more cattle than we have, Russia, Australia and Argentina more sheep, but we are away ahead in swine. In cattle, sheep and hogs we have about 169,000,000.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COUGH

Doctors Feared Lung Trouble, Restored to Health by Vinol.

The medical profession does not believe that lung troubles are inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to them.

Mrs. Kate Heckman, Springfield, O., says: "A few years ago I was in a very bad run-down condition, and the physician told me I had consumption. I tried another physician, and he told me I had ulcers on my right lung. I quit the physicians and started on 'Vinol.' Today I am perfectly healthy, and that is why I recommend 'Vinol.' Vinol soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces and allays the cough. Vinol creates an appetite, strengthens the digestive organs and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary diseases.
